THE 2019 COLLEGE FOOTBALL SEASON

By Jim Gumm Owner / Editor of THE BLITZ

College football turns 150 years old in 2019 and the sport has never been more popular nationally than it is right now with the key word being nationally. The South and the Midwest has always been big supporters of college football but college football is becoming more and more popular in areas where it has been overshadowed by the NFL. It's great to watch as fans, in other regions of the United States, are paying attention and getting excited about football that is being played on Saturdays.

One big change that we have witnessed this past year is the infamous "Transfer Portal" that has become something watched almost as intently as recruiting. Some people believe that it is the beginning of "free agency" in college football. In 2019 we will see quarterbacks who have changed from one school to another who could eventually lead their new schools to conference championship games and possibly into the College Football Playoffs. Jalen Hurts went from Alabama to Oklahoma, Justin Fields went from Georgia to Ohio State, Kelly Bryant went from Clemson to Missouri, Jacob Eason moved from Georgia to Washington and Hunter Johnson goes from Clemson to Northwestern. We're all for players having the freedom to move as they please but sometimes it seems that the lack of patience just might come back to haunt a few guys.

The Heisman Trophy is always fun to predict this time of the year and usually it plays out about how we believe but every year there is someone who comes out of nowhere to contend. Tua Tagovailoa of Alabama and Trevor Lawrence of Clemson are the odds on favorites heading into the season but Justin Fields of Ohio State, Jalen Hurts of Oklahoma, Adrian Martinez of Nebraska. Jake Fromm of Georgia, Justin Herbert of Oregon, Shea Patterson of Michigan, Jonathan

Taylor of Wisconsin, Ian Book of Notre Dame, Sam Ehlinger of Texas, Travis Etienne of Clemson and AJ Dillon of Boston College are a few guys who are coming into the season without the hype but one of them will have a monster year and be in contention by the time December rolls around.

Now comes the most challenging prediction. Coming up with the teams that will win their conference championship games and be selected to play in the College Football Playoffs. Pretty much everyone believes that Alabama & Clemson are locks to make it and we're right there with all of the other experts, however it wouldn't shock me if one of these two programs slips up enough to not make it in. The other two schools that we believe will be in the playoffs are Ohio State and Oklahoma. Ryan Day is in his first year at the helm of the Buckeyes taking over for Urban Meyer while Lincoln Riley has continued the tradition of powerful Sooner teams when he replaced Bob Stoops.

All of that being said, you just know that at least one of these four squads will disappoint and will miss out on a playoff berth. If that happens, someone will be ready to snatch up a playoff bid. Georgia, Michigan, Oregon, Texas, Texas A&M, Florida, Notre Dame, Penn State, Washington and LSU are the 8 programs that look poised to have a great season in jump into the conversation.

Finally we believe that there are 3 historically powerful programs that will get back into the national spotlight. They are Nebraska, Florida State and Tennessee. There is just too much "want" for these three to stay down. The Huskers, Seminoles and Vols look like they are all heading in the right direction. Good luck to YOUR team in 2019.

FOOTBALL TIDBITS

Michigan has drawn 100,000-plus fans for a record 286 straight home games, a streak that extends back to Nov. 8, 1975 while Nebraska continued its NCAA-record streak of 368 consecutive home sellouts, a stretch that dates back to Nov. 3, 1962.

The Rose Bowl has led all bowls in attendance every year since 1945 (excluding BCS or CFP title games), attracted 91,853 spectators, again the most of any bowl game.

Clemson became the first team to finish 15-0 since the 1800s and the first time during the five years of the CFP era to go unbeaten.

Clemson QB Trevor Lawrence, became the first freshman starting quarterback to lead a team to the national title since Oklahoma's Jamelle Holieway in 1985.

Alabama has played in the postseason a record 66 times and a record 70 games.

When Ohio State beat Washington, 28-23, in the Rose Bowl, QB Dwayne Haskins passed for 251 yards and three touchdowns, making him only the sixth Division I FBS quarterback to throw 50 touchdown passes in a season.

Texas earned their first 10-win season since 2009 by beating Georgia, 28-21, in the Allstate Sugar Bowl.

Kentucky beat Penn State, 27-24, in the Citrus Bowl, finishing with its first 10-win season since 1977 and only the third time in program history.

In July, UConn announced that they were going to leave the American Athletic Conference following this season. They will join the Big East Conference in all sports except for football because the Big East does not sponsor football these days. At this point it appears that the Huskies will compete as an Independent in football in 2020.

As the 2019 season begins Mason Fine (North Texas) has the most career passing yards with 9,417. McKenzie Milton (UCF) has the most career TD Passes with 72. Jonathan Taylor (Wisconsin) has the most career rushing yards with 4,171.
